

Lifetime achievement award for Wright

SQUASH

DISEWORTH squash ace Adrian Wright has been honoured by England Squash Masters (ESM) after calling time on his playing career at the age of 81.

Over the course of an illustrious Masters career he won four World Masters titles, six British Opens, 10 National Championships and a record

37 Regional Opens.

And for the first time in its 20-year history ESM made a special award, giving Adrian a special Lifetime Achievement Award.

ESM chairman Stuart Hardy said: "Adrian has been a top Masters player and the most successful male player we have had. Known as 'The Silver Fox' he has been a great supporter of England Squash

Masters both on and off the court and started the early ESM website. He had a great eye for the ball and hit with great pace from sometimes hopeless positions. A fierce but fair competitor he often won against the odds with a flurry of winning shots.

"We wish him a happy retirement from Squash and hope to see him visit us at events when he can."
